United Sleep Medicine Announces Medical Director Appointment

Dr. Andrea M. Rinn, D.O., has accepted advanced position of Medical Director for United Sleep Medicine. With boards in Neurology and Sleep Medicine, Dr. Rinn has been practicing with United Sleep Medicine for over four years. Her professional credentials and personal leadership skills make her a natural fit for the role.

Dr. Rinn received her D.O. from Des Moines University School of Osteopathy in Des Moines, Iowa. At Wake Forest University, she was named Chief Resident in Neurology and received an internship in Internal Medicine at Wake Forest University School of Medicine at Bowman Gray Campus in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, with a fellowship in Neurophysiology with a focus in Sleep. She is a member of the American Neurological Association and the American Academy of Sleep Medicine.

Publishing and presenting on various topics in sleep medicine, which include Medical Complications of Sleep Disorders; Outcome of Patients with Sleep Complaints and Normal Polysomnograms; REM Sleep Behavior Disorder and Sleep Deprivation and Driving, Dr. Rinn also brings the unique expertise and research background the Medical Director position requires.

Dr. Rinn is established as well in the field of pediatric sleep medicine, sees patients age two and up who are seeking treatment for sleep disorders and the affects of sleep deprivation. She happily treats patients at our offices in Monroe, Charlotte, Concord and Huntersville.

Before joining United Sleep Medicine, Dr. Rinn was a former partner with Northeast Neurology and practiced sleep medicine at Northeast Medical Center in Concord, North Carolina.

For more information about Dr. Rinn, her new role as United Sleep Medicine, or the practice of sleep medicine and how sleep disorders impact a large percentage of the population, contact us at United Sleep Medicine, Business Office...5821 Fairview Road, Suite 409...Charlotte, NC 28209, 704-377-5337 ext. 307...Fax: 704-377-9992, and/or for general information email us marketing@unitedsleepmedicine.com.
